Question

Describe a person who loves to grow vegetables at home or in the garden You should say: Who this person is What vegetables he/she grows How he/she grows the vegetables And explain why he/she loves growing vegetables

Answer

Band score: 6.0-6.5

I would say my grandfather is a great example of someone who enjoys gardening. He has grown many plants, including onions, chilli peppers, and various herbs that are used for cooking. There are also beautiful flowers, and he even has apple trees in the courtyard, where we can pick fresh apples to eat when summer comes. Since there is plenty of space, he manages all of them in his garden. Every morning he waters the plants, trims the branches, and collects fallen leaves. He really enjoys planting because it is an interesting hobby that helps him relax and kill time.

- "chilli peppers" 没问题，但题目要求种蔬菜，可以多强调 vegetables 而不是 flowers 和 apple trees，否则容易偏题
- "apple trees in the courtyard" 属于水果，不属于蔬菜，占篇幅较多，建议简化
- "manages all of them in his garden" 表达比较模糊，建议具体说明如何种植，例如 watering, fertilizing, removing weeds
- "kill time" 在 IELTS 中有一点消极，容易给考官一种“无所事事”的感觉，可以改成 stay active 或 keep himself occupied
- 最后一部分解释原因比较单薄，只说 relax and kill time，不足以支撑 Part 2 最后一个问题，建议增加健康、成就感、环保或享受新鲜蔬菜等原因
- 整体内容符合题目，但细节略少，目前大约只能讲 40-50 秒，考试中建议扩展到 1-2 分钟

Polished

I’d like to talk about my grandfather, who is passionate about growing vegetables at home.

He grows a variety of vegetables, including onions, chilli peppers, tomatoes, and several kinds of herbs that are often used in cooking. His garden is quite large, so he has enough space to grow different plants that he likes.

As for how he grows them, he spends a lot of time taking care of the garden. Every morning, he waters the vegetables, removes weeds, trims branches, and sometimes adds fertilizer to help the plants grow better. He also pays close attention to the weather and the health of the plants, and then adjust the facilities and equipments accordingly.

I think he loves growing vegetables for several reasons. First of all, gardening helps him stay active and relaxed after retirement. Instead of staying indoors all day, he can spend time outside enjoying fresh air and sunshine.

Another reason is that he gets a great sense of achievement from it. When the vegetables are ready to be harvested, he feels proud because they are the result of his own hard work and patience. In addition, the vegetables are fresh, healthy, and free from unnecessary chemicals, which makes him enjoy growing them even more.

Overall, gardening is much more than a hobby for him; it is a meaningful part of his daily life and something he genuinely enjoys doing.

Q1

What are the advantages of growing vegetables or flowers at home?

A1

Growing our own vegetables is incredibly rewarding. It not only provides us with fresh organic produce, but also saves us significant time and money on grocery shopping. On the other hand, flowers are essential for our mental well-being. There is a great sense of accomplishment and satisfaction in seeing what we plant in our own backyard.

- "saves us significant time and money on grocery shopping" 不太准确，种菜通常省钱，但未必省时间
- "On the other hand" 这里不是转折关系，更适合用 "In addition" 或 "As for flowers"
- 整体不错，但可以增加一个具体例子让回答更自然

Polished

Growing our own vegetables is incredibly rewarding. It not only provides us with fresh and healthy produce, but can also reduce our spending on groceries.

As for flowers, they can make our homes more attractive and have a positive effect on our mental well-being. Many people feel relaxed when they see beautiful plants around them.

Another advantage is the sense of achievement. Watching a plant grow from a tiny seed into something healthy and beautiful can be very satisfying.

Q2

Do many people grow vegetables or flowers at home in your country?

A2

Yes, they do. In urban areas, many people grow flowers at home, while others plant vegetables in rural areas. In modern cities, people often do not have enough room on their balconies, so they just grow some flowers on a small scale. This provides them with a sense of satisfaction and allows them to enjoy the beauty of nature at home. However, many people who live in rural areas prefer planting vegetables in their courtyards, because it is not convenient for them to buy fresh food elsewhere. They can enjoy the organic and delicious they have grown themselves.

- "just grow some flowers on a small scale" 表达有点生硬
- "it is not convenient for them to buy fresh food elsewhere" 不太符合现实，农村种菜更多是习惯和新鲜，而不是买不到
- "the organic and delicious they have grown themselves" 语法错误，缺少名词
- 城乡对比不错，但理由需要更自然

Polished

Yes, I think quite a lot of people do.

In cities, many people grow flowers or small plants on their balconies because they usually have limited space. These plants can brighten up their homes and help them feel closer to nature.

In rural areas, however, people are more likely to grow vegetables in their gardens or courtyards. They often enjoy eating fresh vegetables that they have grown themselves, and gardening is also a traditional hobby for many families.

Overall, home gardening is becoming increasingly popular because people are paying more attention to healthy lifestyles and environmental awareness.

Q3

Is it easy to grow plants at home?

A3

No, I think it's not easy to grow plants at home. It requires a lot of time and energy. Every morning you should waterthem and collect the fallen leaves. What's more, you need to prepare some gardening tools, which can be expensive. Also, you may need to take measures to protect them from extreme weather. We are supposed to learn some gardening skills before we start growing plants.

- "waterthem" → "water them" 拼写错误
- "Every morning you should water them" 太绝对，不是所有植物都需要每天浇水
- 整体逻辑不错，但缺少一个让步观点，会更像 Band 7 回答

Polished

I don't think it is particularly easy, especially for beginners.

Growing plants requires time, patience, and basic gardening knowledge. For example, people need to know how much water and sunlight different plants need. If they don't take proper care of them, the plants may not survive.

In addition, gardeners sometimes have to deal with pests, diseases, and extreme weather conditions, which can be quite challenging.

Overall, I strongly believe that it is not easy for beginners to grow plants at home, but once people gain some experience, it becomes much easier and more enjoyable.

Q4

Why do some people like to grow plants?

A4

I think there are several reasons. Firstly, planting vegetables can provide us with fresh produce, and save a lot of money on buying them. Secondly, We can gain a sense of satisfaction and accomplishment by seeing the plants that we grow ourselves. Thirdly, we can enjoy the beauty of nature at home. For example, by planting flowers on our balcony.

- Firstly/Secondly/Thirdly 模板感较强，雅思口语中容易显得背诵

- "Secondly, We" 大写错误
- 例子太短，可以展开一点
- 内容不错，但表达可以更自然

Polished

I think people grow plants for a variety of reasons.

One reason is that they can enjoy fresh vegetables and herbs without having to buy them from supermarkets. Some people also believe that home-grown food is healthier and safer.

Another reason is the sense of achievement. Seeing a plant grow successfully after weeks or even months of care can make people feel proud of their efforts.

Besides that, plants can improve the appearance of a home. For example, flowers on a balcony or in a garden can create a more relaxing and pleasant living environment.

So, for many people, gardening is not only practical but also a great way to reduce stress and enjoy nature in their daily lives.

question

Describe a new law you would like to introduce in your country You should say: What law it is What changes this law brings Whether this new law will be popular How you came up with the new law And explain how you feel about this new law

Answer

> Band score: 6.0

I would like to introduce a new law about protecting water resources in our country. The law would focus on solving water pollution and improving water quality. Many rivers and reservoirs are currently polluted by factories, that emit wastewater directly into the environment without any treatment measures. I think we should stop these factories from polluting , the environment by imposing penalties. What's more, there is not enough clean water provided in public areas. We could make our water resources cleaner so that people have enough safe water to drink. By solving the problem of water pollution, I believe we would enjoy better health and this law would be accepted by more and more people because we should take care of our own health.

- "that emit wastewater directly into the environment without any treatment measures" 表达基本正确，但 "without any treatment measures" 不够自然，可以改成 without proper treatment
- "polluting , the environment" 标点错误
- "there is not enough clean water provided in public areas" 与法律主题联系较弱，而且表达不够自然
- 没有回答题目中的 How you came up with the new law
- Whether this new law will be popular 回答较简单，缺少展开
- 结尾主要重复“健康”，内容不够丰富
- 整体内容符合题目，但细节偏少，容易只讲 45-60 秒

Polished

I'd like to introduce a new law aimed at protecting water resources and reducing water pollution.

I came up with this idea after reading several news reports about polluted rivers and lakes in different parts of the country. In some places, factories discharge wastewater into rivers without proper treatment, which can seriously damage the environment and threaten public health.

The law would require companies to meet stricter environmental standards and face heavy fines if they pollute water sources. At the same time, the government could invest more money in water treatment facilities and environmental monitoring systems.

I believe this law would bring several positive changes. First, it would improve water quality and ensure that people have access to clean and safe drinking water. Second, it would help protect ecosystems and wildlife that depend on rivers and lakes.

As for its popularity, I think most people would support it because everyone benefits from a cleaner environment. Although some factories might be concerned about higher operating costs, the long-term benefits would outweigh the disadvantages.

Personally, I feel strongly positive about this law because protecting water resources is essential for both human health and sustainable development. I believe it would make our country a cleaner and healthier place to live in.

Q1

How does technology affect the law?

A1

On the one hand, new measures are needed to enforce environmental rules because some people use advanced technology to cause harm. On the other hand, the government can also benefit from new technology by using advanced tools and skills to safeguard our society.

- 回答偏短，Part 3 最好展开一点
- cause harm 过于笼统，可以具体说 cybercrime, pollution monitoring 等
- 第二个观点不错，但缺少具体例子
- 题目问 technology affect the law，最好同时提到 law enforcement 和 new legal challenges

Polished

Technology has a significant impact on the law. On the one hand, new technologies can create new legal challenges, such as cybercrime, online fraud, and data privacy issues, which require governments to introduce new regulations. On the other hand, technology can also help authorities enforce laws more effectively. For example, surveillance systems and data analysis tools can assist the police in preventing crime and improving public safety.

Q2

What kinds of rules do schools in China have?

A2

There are many rules in Chinese schools. Students are not allowed to speak aloud in class. What's more, they are supposed to protect public facilities so that everyone can study in a better environment. Additionally, students should show respect for their teachers and peers. Overall, I think there are many rules in Chinese schools, but they help ensure a better school campus environment.

- speak aloud in class 不够自然，应该是 talk loudly in class
- school campus environment 表达重复
- 内容较好，但缺少一个具体例子

Polished

There are many rules in Chinese schools. For example, students are not allowed to talk loudly during lessons or use their phones in class. They are also expected to take care of school facilities and show respect to teachers and classmates. Although there are quite a few rules, I think they help create a more orderly and positive learning environment for everyone.

Q3

Will there be a law that is universally accepted?

A3

Well, I don't think so. There are many people around the world with different personalities, so it is difficult for everyone to reach a common consensus. What's more, it is also challenging for all of them to accept the same law.

- common consensus 属于重复表达，consensus 本身就有“共识”的意思
- 回答逻辑正确，但可以增加原因
- Part 3 可以展示更复杂的思考

Polished

Well, I don't think so. People come from different cultural, religious, and social backgrounds, so it is difficult for everyone to agree on the same set of rules. What is considered reasonable in one country may not be accepted in another. Therefore, I think it is almost impossible for a law to be universally accepted by everyone.

Q4

What environmental laws does your country already have?

A4

There are already many environmental laws in China. People should not harm endangered animals, and they must protect water resources, forests, and other natural resources. Additionally, everyone needs to follow these rules to maintain a healthy environment. I believe these laws are necessary because they can provide us with a better environment, allowing us to enjoy a healthier quality of life.

- 整体比较流畅
- people should not harm endangered animals 可以换成更正式表达
- 结尾有些泛泛而谈，可以具体说明作用

Polished

There are already many environmental laws in China. For example, people are prohibited from hunting or trading endangered animals, and there are also regulations aimed at protecting forests, rivers, and other natural resources. In addition, factories must follow environmental standards to reduce pollution. I believe these laws are essential because they help preserve nature and improve public health by providing a cleaner living environment.

Question

Describe a friend from your childhood You should say: Who he/she is Where and how you met each other What you often did together And explain what made you like him/her

Answer

Band score: 6.0-6.5

I would like to describe my best friend, Xiang. He was my neighbor when I was young, and we lived in the same block. We first met at the community playground while playing games. We got along well with each other. In our spare time, we often played basketball and other games together. That was a memorable and happy time for me. What's more, he was good at English and helped me a lot with my exams. I was so thankful because I passed my exam with his help. He was a nice person. Who gave me a lot of support,. I always remember the valuable time we spent together., And I believe we will still be friends in the future.

- Who gave me a lot of support,. 是残句（sentence fragment），应与前一句连接
- I passed my exam 表达有点单薄，改为 performed better in my exams 或 achieved good results in my exams 更自然
- played basketball and other games together 比较笼统，可以稍微具体一点
- He was a nice person 过于简单，不够体现 Part 2 的细节和情感
- 结尾 I believe we will still be friends in the future 略显普通，可以强调友谊的重要性
- 对题目最后一个问题 what made you like him/her 回答不够充分，应该突出他的性格特点，而不仅仅是帮助你学习

Polished

I'd like to talk about my childhood friend, Xiang, who was also my neighbor when I was growing up. We lived in the same apartment block and first met at a community playground near our homes.

We quickly became close friends and spent a lot of time together. In our free time, we often played basketball, rode bicycles, and took part in various outdoor activities. Those moments were some of the happiest memories of my childhood.

What I liked most about him was that he was kind, supportive, and always willing to help others. For example, he was very good at English and often helped me prepare for my exams. Thanks to his help, I was able to achieve much better results at school, which made me really grateful.

Another reason I liked him was his positive personality. He was always patient and encouraging whenever I faced difficulties. Because of that, I felt comfortable sharing my thoughts and problems with him.

Overall, Xiang was an important part of my childhood, and the friendship we built over the years is something I truly value. Although we are both busy now, I strongly believe our friendship will continue in the future.

Q1

Do you still keep in touch with your friends from childhood? Why or why not?

A1

Band score: 6.5

Although some of my best friends moved to other cities when we grew up, I still keep in touch with them. With the development of technology, it's convenient for us to chat online. My friends are helpful and nice, so I'm happy to chat with them. And sometimes we play computer games together. What's more, we always help each other with both physical and mental health.

- And sometimes we play computer games together. 用 And 开头稍显简单
- help each other with both physical and mental health 搭配不自然，应该是 emotional support 或 daily problems
- 缺少具体说明为什么保持联系

Polished

Although some of my childhood friends moved to different cities as we grew older, I still keep in touch with them regularly. Thanks to social media and messaging apps, it is very easy for us to stay connected. We often chat online, share updates about our lives, and sometimes even play online games together. What I value most is that we can always support each other when facing difficulties, so these friendships remain very important to me.

Q2

How important is childhood friendship to children?

A2

Band score: 6.0

I think childhood friendship is a neccessary part for a children. They need companionship of partners, which help them grow up positively. It is also meaningful and useful for them to make friends, because partners can provide them with useful suggestions.

- neccessary → necessary
- a children → a child's life
- which help → which helps
- companionship of partners 不自然
- ideas 有些重复

Polished

I think childhood friendship is an essential part of a child's development. Friends provide companionship and emotional support, which helps children feel happier and more confident. In addition, children can learn important social skills such as cooperation, communication, and problem-solving through their friendships. These experiences can have a positive influence on their future relationships as well.

Q3

What do you think of communicating via social media?

A3

Band score: 6.0

I think it is a meaningful and effective trend. With the development of science and technology, chating online is becoming more and more popular. Mobile phones provide people with more effective and convenient way to cummunicate with their friends.

- chating → chatting
- more effective and convenient way → a more effective and convenient way
- cummunicate → communicate
- "meaningful and effective trend" 有些模板化

Polished

I think communicating through social media is generally very useful. With the development of technology, online communication has become an important part of daily life. Mobile phones and social media platforms provide a convenient and efficient way to stay in touch with friends and family, especially when people live far away from each other. However, it is still important to balance online communication with real-life interactions.

Q4

Do you think online communication through social media will replace face-to-face communication?

A4

Band score: 5.5-6.0

Yes. Face-to-face communication is time-consumming, althought it can help friends get close. People can have a talk with their partners conveniently by using mobile phones.

- time-consumming → time-consuming
- althought → although
- 观点过于绝对，考官可能会追问
- 缺少展开

Polished

I don't think online communication will completely replace face-to-face interaction. Although social media is very convenient and saves time, meeting people in person allows us to understand their emotions and reactions better. Face-to-face communication also helps build stronger relationships, so I believe both forms of communication will continue to exist together.

Q5

What's the difference between having younger friends and older friends?

A5

Band score: 6.0

younger friends are more active and creative, while older friends are tend to be patient and kind. Friends in different ages can help us in different aspects and ways. Both of them can be friendly, but they are different in personality and communication habits.

- younger 应大写
- are tend to be → tend to be
- in different ages → of different ages
- 内容不错，但缺少细节

Polished

Younger friends are often more energetic, creative, and open to new experiences, while older friends tend to be more patient and experienced. Because of their life experience, older friends can usually give practical advice when we face problems. On the other hand, younger friends may introduce us to new ideas and trends. Therefore, both types of friendships can be valuable in different ways.

Q6

Has technology changed people's friendships? How?

A6

Band score: 6.0

Yes, tecnoogy has changed people's friendships. With the development of computer science, chating online is becomming more and more popular, so that people are no willing to have a face-to-face communication any more. However, there is no doubt that technology provide us with a more convenient way, and we can keep in touch with our best friends all the time.

- tecnoogy → technology
- chating → chatting
- becomming → becoming
- no willing → less willing
- provide → provides
- "people are less willing to communicate face to face" 说得太绝对

Polished

Yes, technology has changed the way people maintain friendships. With the rise of social media and instant messaging apps, it has become much easier to stay connected with friends regardless of distance. People can share photos, messages, and important moments instantly. However, some people may spend more time communicating online and less time meeting in person. Overall, I think technology has made friendships more convenient to maintain, although it cannot completely replace face-to-face interaction.

Describe a person you know who would like to choose a career in the medical field (e.g. a doctor, a nurse) You should say: When you knew him/her When he/she started to think about that What he/she would like to do And explain why he/she would like to choose this career

Band score: 6.5

I would like to describe my childhood friend Xiang. He is my neighbor and we lived in the same block. After graduating from high school, he decided to major in medicine. He wants to be a doctor because he would like to take care of patients in the future and contribute to our society. Xiang's mother is a nurse at our local hospital, so he has learned a lot of about the medical field when he was young. In order to achieve this goal, he has worked hard. He not only studied at school to learn more theoretical knowledge, but also had many internship experiences. He is a very kind and patient man, so I think he would become a great doctor in the future.

- a lot of about the medical field → 语法错误，应改为 a lot about the medical field
- when he was young 时态不够自然，应该用 from a young age
- had many internship experiences 搭配不自然，应该说 gained practical experience through internships
- would become a great doctor 更自然的表达是 will become a great doctor
- 回答覆盖了题目要求，但 When he started to think about that 回答不够明确
- 对于 why he would like to choose this career 还可以展开得更具体一些
- 内容比较流畅，但细节略少，因此目前大约在 6.5 分水平

Polished

I'd like to talk about my childhood friend, Xiang, whom I have known since we were young because we grew up in the same neighborhood.

He became interested in the medical field during his high school years, and after graduation, he decided to study medicine at university. His goal is to become a doctor who can help patients and improve people's quality of life.

One of the main reasons he chose this career is that his mother works as a nurse at a local hospital. Because of her influence, he learned a lot about the medical profession from a very young age. He often heard stories about how doctors and nurses helped people, which inspired him to follow a similar path.

To achieve his goal, he has been working extremely hard. He not only studies medical knowledge at university but also gains practical experience through hospital internships and training programs. These experiences have helped him develop both professional skills and a better understanding of patients' needs.

What I admire most about Xiang is that he is kind, patient, and responsible. He genuinely cares about other people and is always willing to help those around him. Because of these qualities, I believe he will become an excellent doctor in the future.

P3

Q1

Do you think being a doctor is easy or difficult?

A1

It's quite difficult. Doctors need to memorize and understand the body's mechanisms, the signs of injury or disease, and the functions of a large amout of medicines.

- amout → amount
- "the body's mechanisms" 不太自然，医生更常说 how the human body works
- 内容比较单薄，可以补充责任感和工作压力，使答案更符合 Part 3 的展开要求
- "memorize and understand" 可以换成更高级的表达，如 master 或 have a thorough understanding of

Polished

I think being a doctor is extremely challenging rather than easy. Doctors need to have a thorough understanding of how the human body works, recognize the symptoms of different diseases, and learn about a large amount of medical knowledge and medication. In addition, they often work under significant pressure because they are responsible for patients' health and even their lives. That is why becoming a good doctor requires years of study and practical experience.

Q2

Do you think learning biology is interesting for children?

A2

Yes, I do. Learning biology can help children understand the mechanisms of their own bodies. Additionally, children can learn how to take care of themselves and protect their health.

- mechanisms of their own bodies 表达生硬，建议改为 how their bodies work
- 答案长度偏短，缺少进一步解释
- 可以增加对自然、动物和科学兴趣的培养，更符合 IELTS Part 3 的深度

Polished

Yes, I do. Learning biology can help children understand how their bodies work and teach them basic knowledge about health and nutrition. It can also encourage them to develop an interest in nature, animals, and science. For example, when children learn about plants, ecosystems, or the human body, they often become more curious about the world around them. As a result, biology can be both educational and enjoyable for young learners.

Question

Describe a person you know who has a successful business You should say: Who this person is How you got to know him/her Why and how he/she started the business What business he/she does And explain why you think the business is successful

Answer

> Band score: 6.0 - 6.5

A person I would like to describe who has a successful business is my childhood friend Xiang. We used to live in the same block and first met at the square in our community while playing basketball. We have been friends for many years and have gotten along well with each other ever since. In high school, we attended the same school. In order to earn money and learn new skills, Xiang took a part-time job at a local cafe, where he learned how to make coffee and bake bread, as well as how to communicate with customers. He also asked his manager questions about running a cafe. After graduating from high school, he decided to open his own cafe. ~~he had enough money and energy to decide to run his own cafe so that he could earn more money and expand his business~~ By that time, he had saved some money and gained valuable experience, which gave him the confidence to start his business. I think Xiang was very hardworking, smart, and disciplined, which is why he succeeded.

Problems:

- The answer is a little too short for IELTS Part 2 (around 1 minute instead of 1.5–2 minutes).
- You only briefly mention what business he does and why it is successful. These are key bullet points in the task.
- "enough money and energy" sounds unnatural in this context.
- More details and examples would help improve fluency and vocabulary.
- The ending is quite general. Examiners prefer specific reasons showing how the business became successful.

Polished

I'd like to talk about my childhood friend Xiang, who runs a successful cafe in my hometown.

We first met when we were children because we lived in the same neighborhood and often played basketball together in the community square. Over the years, we became very close friends and even attended the same high school.

When he was a student, Xiang took a part-time job at a local cafe. At first, he simply wanted to earn some extra money, but later he became genuinely interested in the coffee business. During that time, he learned how to make different kinds of coffee, bake bread, and provide good customer service. He also paid close attention to how the cafe was managed and often asked the manager questions about running a business.

After graduating from high school, he decided to open his own cafe. He used the money he had saved from his part-time job and spent a lot of time designing the menu and decorating the shop. Although it was challenging at the beginning, he worked extremely hard and gradually attracted more customers.

Today, his cafe is quite popular among local residents, especially young people. Many customers recommend it on social media because of its high-quality coffee, fresh pastries, and friendly atmosphere.

I think his business is successful because he is hardworking, disciplined, and willing to learn from others. More importantly, he always focuses on customer satisfaction, which has helped him build a loyal customer base. His story has inspired me a lot, and I really admire his entrepreneurial spirit.

P3

Q1

Why do some people start their own business?

A1

Band score: 6.0

People start their own businesses to earn more skills and gain diverse experiences. If you are just an employee working for a boss, the tasks you do are often repetitive and simple. So you may not acquire enough experience to become a better professional. What's more, some people start their own businesses to expand them, which can provide additional income and help them achieve their personal goals. For example, many wealthy individuals own their own businesses. They start their businesses in the beginning and try their best to expand them and become richer in the end.

Problems

- "earn more skills" → incorrect collocation.
- "expand them" is unclear (expand what?).
- The example is repetitive ("businesses" appears too many times).
- The answer could include more natural reasons such as independence and passion.

Polished

Some people start their own businesses because they want to develop new skills and gain a wider range of experiences. When you work as an employee, your responsibilities are often limited to a specific area, but running a business requires you to learn about management, marketing, and customer service.

Another reason is that many people want to have more control over their careers and earn a higher income. If their business grows successfully, they can achieve financial independence and pursue their personal goals. For example, many entrepreneurs start with a small company and gradually expand it into a profitable business.

Q2

Should governments provide financial support to start-ups?

A2

Band score: 6.0

No, I don't think so. There are many startups every year, and it would cost a lot of money and energy for governments to support them. Governments should instead use the money to invest in public services and infrastructure. What's more, if startups can survive without government financial support, they will be able to expand their businesses and become stronger in the end.

Problems

- "money and energy" is unnatural.
- Opinion is reasonable, but the explanation is a bit repetitive.
- IELTS examiners prefer balanced reasoning.

Polished

Personally, I don't think governments should provide financial support to every start-up. There are thousands of new businesses every year, so doing so would require a huge amount of public funding.

I believe governments should prioritize essential areas such as education, healthcare, and infrastructure. However, they could offer support to businesses in important industries, such as technology or environmental protection. In this way, public money can be used more effectively while still encouraging innovation.

Do most people prefer shopping at big stores or small stores?

A3

Band score: 5.5 - 6.0

It depends on different people. Some people like shopiing at a big stores, which provide varieties of goods and better service. While some people prefer purchasing in small stores, because they are close to homes and the goods are cheaper.

Problems

- Spelling: shopiing → shopping
- Grammar: a big stores → big stores
- Collocation: varieties of goods → a wide variety of goods
- Grammar: close to homes → close to their homes
- Sentence beginning with "While" is incomplete.

Polished

It depends on the individual. Some people prefer shopping at large stores because they offer a wider variety of products, competitive prices, and better customer service.

On the other hand, some people enjoy shopping at small local stores because they are usually more convenient and closer to home. In addition, customers may receive more personalized service from shop owners.

Q4

What makes a business successful?

A4

Band score: 5.5 - 6.0

I think there are many reasons to make a business successful. A high-quality product can attract many people's attention. Additionally, Advertising can help goods to be known and purchased by more people. For example, I like to buy something cheap and useful through ads.

Problems

- "to make a business successful" is unnatural.
- Capitalization: Advertising.
- "help goods to be known" is awkward.
- Personal example is weak and not directly related to business success.

Polished

I think there are several factors that contribute to a business's success. First of all, a company needs to provide high-quality products or services that meet customers' needs.

In addition, effective marketing is also important because it helps a business reach more potential customers. Finally, good customer service can encourage people to return and recommend the business to others, which helps it grow over time.

Q5

What makes a business fail?

A5

Band score: 5.0 - 5.5

Some expensive goods can make people be no willing to buy them. For example, sometimes I find something interesting, but I can not afford them because they are too expensive for me. What' more, I dislike the products that are in low quality.

Problems

- Grammar: be no willing → be unwilling
- Pronoun: afford them → afford it
- Spelling: What' more → What's more
- Collocation: in low quality → of low quality
- Only talks about products, not businesses.

Polished

A business can fail for several reasons. One common reason is that its products are too expensive compared with similar products on the market, which discourages customers from buying them.

Another reason is poor quality. If customers feel that a product is unreliable or doesn't provide good value for money, they are unlikely to purchase it again. As a result, the business may lose customers and eventually struggle to survive.

Q6

Is it easy to set up a new business in your country?

A6

Band score: 6.0

No. I think it is very diffcult for people to set up a new business in China. Many industries are popular, and there are already existing many high-quality and cost-effective goods. So it would be diffcult for people to set up a new business to replace them.

Problems

- Spelling: diffcult → difficult
- Grammar: existing many high-quality goods is unnatural.
- "replace them" is unclear.
- Needs more specific explanation.

Polished

No, I don't think it's easy to start a new business in China nowadays. Many industries are already highly competitive, and there are numerous well-established companies offering high-quality products at reasonable prices.

As a result, new businesses often find it difficult to attract customers and compete with existing brands. In addition, entrepreneurs usually need a significant amount of capital and business experience, which can make starting a company even more challenging.
