Band Score

Band 6.0

Original Essay

The table compares the total number of visitors to Ashdown Museum between during the year before refurbishment and during the year after refurbishment, and the pie charts illustrate the degree of satisfaction.

It is clear that the total number of visitors of Ashdown Museum during the year is larger after refurbishment. And there are more visitors satisfiified with the refurbished museum, with higher percentage.

There were 74000 visitors visiting Ashdown Museum during the year before refurbishment, and the figure reached 92000 after refurbishment. What's more, the proportion of visitors who were very satisfied with the museum is 15% before, and rose by 20% when the museum refurbishment was done. As for who were satisfied with Ashdown Museum, the percentage increased from 30% to 40% as well.

By contrast, the proportion of visitors were dissatisfied or very dissatisfied with the museum saw an dramatic decreasing, only account for 15% and 5% separately after refurbishing. However, what remained stable was the percentage of visitors without response.

Grammar & Spelling Check

Case 1

Original: between during the year before refurbishment and during the year after refurbishment

Corrected: during the year before refurbishment and during the year after refurbishment

Reason: “Between” is unnecessary and creates a grammatical error.

Case 2

Original: visitors of Ashdown Museum

Corrected: visitors to Ashdown Museum

Reason: The correct preposition is “to” when referring to visitors visiting a place.

Case 3

Original: satisfiified

Corrected: satisfied

Reason: Spelling mistake.

Case 4

Original: with higher percentage

Corrected: with a higher percentage

Reason: Missing article before a singular countable noun.

Case 5

Original: What's more

Corrected: Moreover

Reason: “Moreover” is more suitable for formal academic writing.

Case 6

Original: the proportion of visitors who were very satisfied with the museum is 15% before

Corrected: the proportion of visitors who were very satisfied with the museum was 15% before refurbishment

Reason: Past tense should be used consistently.

Case 7

Original: rose by 20%

Corrected: rose to 35%

Reason: The figure increased from 15% to 35%, so “rose to” is more accurate than “rose by.”

Case 8

Original: As for who were satisfied with Ashdown Museum

Corrected: As for visitors who were satisfied with Ashdown Museum

Reason: Missing noun after “As for.”

Case 9

Original: the proportion of visitors were dissatisfied

Corrected: the proportion of visitors who were dissatisfied

Reason: Relative clause is needed for grammatical accuracy.

Case 10

Original: saw an dramatic decreasing

Corrected: saw a dramatic decrease

Reason: Incorrect article and word form.

Case 11

Original: only account for 15% and 5% separately

Corrected: only accounting for 15% and 5% respectively

Reason: Correct participle form and more appropriate vocabulary.

Case 12

Original: after refurbishing

Corrected: after the refurbishment

Reason: More natural and accurate noun form.

Score Improvement Suggestions

Case 1

Original: the figure reached 92000 after refurbishment

Corrected: the figure rose to 92,000 in the year after refurbishment

Reason: More precise and formal expression.

Case 2

Original: there are more visitors satisfied with the refurbished museum

Corrected: visitor satisfaction increased significantly after the refurbishment

Reason: More academic and concise wording.

Case 3

Original: degree of satisfaction

Corrected: levels of visitor satisfaction

Reason: More natural collocation in IELTS Task 1 writing.

Vocabulary Enhancement

Case 1

Original: compares

Corrected: illustrates, presents, outlines

Case 2

Original: larger

Corrected: higher, greater

Case 3

Original: reached

Corrected: rose to, climbed to

Case 4

Original: very satisfied

Corrected: highly satisfied

Case 5

Original: decreased

Corrected: declined, dropped, fell

Corrected Essay

The table compares the total number of visitors to Ashdown Museum during the year before refurbishment and during the year after refurbishment, while the pie charts illustrate the levels of visitor satisfaction.

It is clear that the total number of visitors to Ashdown Museum was higher after the refurbishment. In addition, visitor satisfaction increased significantly following the renovation.

There were 74,000 visitors to Ashdown Museum during the year before refurbishment, and the figure rose to 92,000 after refurbishment. Moreover, the proportion of visitors who were very satisfied with the museum was 15% before refurbishment and rose to 35% afterward. As for visitors who were satisfied with Ashdown Museum, the percentage also increased from 30% to 40%.

By contrast, the proportions of visitors who were dissatisfied or very dissatisfied with the museum saw a dramatic decrease, accounting for only 15% and 5% respectively after the refurbishment. However, the percentage of visitors who gave no response remained stable.