Band Score

Band 5.5

Question

In their advertising, businesses nowadays usually emphasize that their products are new in some way.

Why is this? Do you think it is a positive or negative development?

Original Essay

With the development of economy and society, medias take a lot of methods to prompt their products and emphasize the novelty in some aspects. I strongly believe it is a negative development, and they should focus the functions and effect of these products.

The incorrect advertising way would cause many bad outcomes.Firstly, people are not able to know the practical functions and use of products clearly in this situation. Secondly, the exagerated advertising may mislead people to buy it without any consideration. It's a waste of money beacuse people don't need the products indeed. What's more, the overuse of products many cause side effect which may do harm to people's health. Therefore, products are supposed to be prompted in a correct way so that customers can avoid wasting money and side effect.

Commercial advertising should focus on the functions, price, use and so on to show the products practically. On the one hand, people can buy the useful goods they want at a suitable price. After learning the products, people can use it in a better way and make better use of it. On the other hand, It is also beneficial for sellers because they can get sell more high quality products and earn more money indeed.

In conclusion, I definitely think it is a negative development to emphasize the novelty in some way. Businesses should focus on the functions and use of the products, and lead people buy goods in a correct method.

Sentences

Introduction Paragraph

Sentence 1

Original: With the development of economy and society, medias take a lot of methods to prompt their products and emphasize the novelty in some aspects.

Corrected: With the development of the economy and society, media companies use various methods to promote their products and emphasize their novelty in some aspects.

Reason: Grammar correction, word choice improvement, and more natural expression.

- development of economy → development of the economy
- medias → media companies
- prompt → promote
- take a lot of methods → use various methods

Sentence 2

Original: I strongly believe it is a negative development, and they should focus the functions and effect of these products.

Corrected: I strongly believe that it is a negative development, and businesses should focus on the functions and effects of these products.

Reason: Grammar correction and more accurate vocabulary.

- believe it is → believe that it is
- focus the functions → focus on the functions
- effect → effects

Body Paragraph 1

Sentence 3

Original: The incorrect advertising way would cause many bad outcomes.

Corrected: This incorrect advertising approach could cause many negative consequences.

Reason: More formal and natural academic expression.

- advertising way → advertising approach
- bad outcomes → negative consequences

Sentence 4

Original: Firstly, people are not able to know the practical functions and use of products clearly in this situation.

Corrected: Firstly, people are unable to clearly understand the practical functions and uses of products in this situation.

Reason: Improved grammar and sentence fluency.

- are not able to know → are unable to understand
- use → uses

Sentence 5

Original: Secondly, the exagerated advertising may mislead people to buy it without any consideration.

Corrected: Secondly, exaggerated advertising may mislead people into buying products without careful consideration.

Reason: Spelling correction and more natural structure.

- exagerated → exaggerated
- mislead people to buy → mislead people into buying
- it → products

Sentence 6

Original: It's a waste of money beacuse people don't need the products indeed.

Corrected: It is a waste of money because people may not actually need these products.

Reason: Grammar correction and more natural expression.

- beacuse → because
- indeed → actually

Sentence 7

Original: What's more, the overuse of products many cause side effect which may do harm to people's health.

Corrected: What's more, the overuse of products may cause side effects, which may harm people's health.

Reason: Grammar and spelling correction.

- many cause → may cause
- side effect → side effects
- do harm to → harm

Sentence 8

Original: Therefore, products are supposed to be prompted in a correct way so that customers can avoid wasting money and side effect.

Corrected: Therefore, products should be promoted in an appropriate way so that customers can avoid wasting money and suffering from side effects.

Reason: Word choice improvement and grammatical accuracy.

- prompted → promoted
- correct way → appropriate way
- side effect → side effects

Body Paragraph 2

Sentence 9

Original: Commercial advertising should focus on the functions, price, use and so on to show the products practically.

Corrected: Commercial advertising should focus on the functions, prices, and uses of products in order to present them more practically.

Reason: Improved grammar and academic tone.

- price → prices
- use → uses
- show the products practically → present them more practically

Sentence 10

Original: On the one hand, people can buy the useful goods they want at a suitable price.

Corrected: On the one hand, people can buy useful goods that they need at reasonable prices.

Reason: More natural vocabulary and sentence structure.

- the useful goods → useful goods
- suitable price → reasonable prices

Sentence 11

Original: After learning the products, people can use it in a better way and make better use of it.

Corrected: After learning about the products, people can use them more effectively and make better use of them.

Reason: Grammar correction and improved coherence.

- learning the products → learning about the products
- it → them

Sentence 12

Original: On the other hand, It is also beneficial for sellers because they can get sell more high quality products and earn more money indeed.

Corrected: On the other hand, it is also beneficial for sellers because they can sell more high-quality products and earn greater profits.

Reason: Grammar correction and more formal vocabulary.

- It → it
- get sell → sell
- high quality → high-quality
- earn more money indeed → earn greater profits

Conclusion Paragraph

Sentence 13

Original: In conclusion, I definitely think it is a negative development to emphasize the novelty in some way.

Corrected: In conclusion, I definitely think that emphasizing novelty in advertising is a negative development.

Reason: More concise and natural academic style.

- emphasize the novelty in some way → emphasizing novelty in advertising

Sentence 14

Original: Businesses should focus on the functions and use of the products, and lead people buy goods in a correct method.

Corrected: Businesses should focus on the functions and uses of products and guide people to buy goods in a proper way.

Reason: Grammar correction and improved vocabulary.

- use → uses
- lead people buy → guide people to buy
- correct method → proper way

Score Improvement and Vocabulary Enhancement

Case 1

Original: prompt products

Corrected: promote products / advertise products

Case 2

Original: bad outcomes

Corrected: negative consequences / harmful effects

Case 3

Original: useful goods

Corrected: practical products / necessary goods

Case 4

Original: earn more money

Corrected: increase profits / generate higher revenue

Case 5

Original: correct way

Corrected: appropriate manner / responsible approach

Structure Improvement

Your essay follows the required 4-paragraph structure, but the second paragraph mainly discusses disadvantages without fully answering why businesses emphasize new products. To achieve a higher band score, you should directly answer both parts of the question.

A stronger structure would be:

1. Introduction
    - Paraphrase the topic
    - Clearly state your opinion
2. Overview / First Body Paragraph
    - Explain why businesses emphasize novelty
    - Example: competition, attracting consumers, increasing sales
3. Second Body Paragraph
    - Explain why this is a negative development
    - Misleading advertising, unnecessary consumption, waste of money
4. Conclusion
    - Restate your opinion clearly

Corrected Essay

With the development of the economy and society, companies use various advertising methods to promote their products and emphasize that they are new in some way. This is mainly because businesses want to attract customers' attention in a highly competitive market. However, I strongly believe that this is a negative development, and companies should focus more on the functions and practical value of their products.

There are several reasons why businesses emphasize novelty in advertisements. Firstly, consumers are often interested in new products because they believe these items are more fashionable or advanced. Secondly, companies can increase sales more easily by creating a sense of excitement and curiosity among customers. As a result, emphasizing novelty has become an effective marketing strategy in modern society.

However, this development has many negative effects. To begin with, consumers may not clearly understand the practical functions and uses of products if advertisements focus too much on novelty. In addition, exaggerated advertising can mislead people into buying unnecessary products without careful consideration, which wastes money. Furthermore, the overuse of certain products may even cause side effects that are harmful to people's health. Therefore, businesses should advertise products in a more responsible and informative way.

In conclusion, businesses emphasize the novelty of products mainly to attract customers and increase profits. Nevertheless, I believe this is a negative development because it may encourage unnecessary consumption and mislead consumers. Companies should focus more on the quality, functions, and practical value of their products.